JAPANESE BOMBS KILL TWO BRITONS

SHANGHAI, June 26 (AP)—The British embassy announced today that the Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Caswell, Canadian missionaries, were killed at Changteh, Hunan Province, when Japanese airplanes bombed the Canadian Holiness Mission in Changteh, of which the Caswells were members.

Headquarters of the mission are in Ottawa. The embassy statement said Japanese bombers "systematically bombed Changteh, including mission property, one and one-half hours."

(A telegram from the Changteh Mission to the British consulate at Chungking, temporary Chinese capital, said the Japanese made repeated power dives over the compound, razing the mission's walls despite British Union Jacks clearly painted on them.

The Rev. and Mrs. Caswell were buried beneath the debris, it said.)

Jap-Russian Showdown Looms Over Fisheries

TOKYO, June 26 (INS)—High ranking officers of the Japanese navy were hurriedly summoned to duty at the Kamchatka naval base today as the possibility mounted of a showdown with Soviet Russia over outer Mongolia and fishery rights in Northern waters.

New reports of Soviet seizure of Japanese fishing vessels reached Tokyo coincident with new fighting between Soviet and Manchukuoan forces on the outer Mongolian frontier.

With the Japanese facing stern British resistance at blockaded Tientsin and the newly-launched Swatow campaign making a heavy drain upon military resources, Nippon is held to have been placed in a more difficult position than at any time since the China war began.

Reports of Anglo-French naval preparations at Singapore brought home to the Japanese the ever-present danger of a major Far Eastern explosion. The Kamchatka naval action was the first concrete indication that Japan is preparing for some sort of a clash with the Soviets.

BULLETIN

TOKYO, June 26 (AP)—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported in a dispatch from Swatow that Japanese navy officials forcibly prevented two British steamers from unloading passengers and freight at the South China port today.

Japanese Refuse 'Outrage' Inquiry

TIENTSIN, June 26 (AP)—A Japanese spokesman declared today Japan had not and would not investigate reports that a British couple had been forced by Japanese to disrobe in Tientsin because "in principle such a case could not happen."

CONNOLLY ADMITS AIDES GAVE CASH

Contributions made by employes in the office of John Patrick Connolly, clerk of superior civil court, were admitted today by his counsel before the full bench of supreme court, but the attorney said these contributions were voluntary and to a "good will fund."

Supreme Court was thronged when the Boston Bar Association's case was opened against Connolly, whose removal is sought on the ground that he extorted money from employes under threat of dismissal.

John P. Connolly

Named with him in the Bar Association's information as alleged co-conspirators are John J. McCarthy, attorney and principal clerk in the office, and William T. Conway.

After brief outlines by both sides, Chief Justice Fred T. Field announced that a stipulation by Bernard Killion, the Connolly counsel, that no employes in the office would be intimidated during the pendency of the case would be accepted in lieu of an injunction asked.

Then the court took under advisement the date for opening hearings in the ouster move by the Bar Association, after Killion said he would need more than two weeks for preparation.

Clerk Connolly, McCarthy and Conway were not in court, and although McCarthy is known to have made an affidavit for the Bar Association, he is still on the Connolly payroll and is still employed in the office.

Six of the former employes in the Connolly office, who allegedly were discharged when they refused to contribute part of their salaries to hold their jobs, were present.

Governor's 2-Cent Cigarette Tax Plan Flayed as 'Outrage'

Governor Saltonstall's proposed two-cent tax on each package of cigarettes was branded "outrageous and ridiculous" today as witnesses jammed the hearing rooms of the joint legislative ways and means committee in the State House.

Most of the audience were anxious to testify against the proposed levy.

Declaring that surveys showed the cigarette tax would impose an additional burden of more than $21 a year on each family in Massachusetts, Attorney Samuel Silverman, former city corporation counsel, blasted the proposal as "unconscionable."

"Imposing a two-cent state tax on cigarettes would mean that this product was being taxed eight cents a package—more than half the cost of the product," he declared.

He referred to the six-cent tax already imposed by the federal government.

BLOW AT RETAILERS

"Can you name any other article which is taxed so heavily? Where is this going to stop?"

The same question was asked by former Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly, who added his voice to those raised in protest against the measure.

"If this keeps up, the next thing you will tax will be the air," stated Kelly.

He asked the committee to pass a resolution requesting the Governor to conduct a plebiscite on the question of holding a state lottery to raise welfare revenue.

PROPOSES LOTTERY

"This is a gambling age," said the former state office holder. "More than $49,000,000 was paid through pari-mutuel windows for horse and dog racing last year, and a state controlled lottery would take at least $4 for every race dollar.

"Close to $100,000,000 is the rev-

Tobin Faces Operation Over Eye

Mayor Tobin announced this morning that he would undergo a minor surgical operation at his home late today.

A "callous growth" over the mayor's left eye, a barely visible disfigurement, will be removed by Dr. Roger T. Doyle, the Tobin family physician.

Dr. Doyle diagnosed the growth as the result of some injury Mayor Tobin probably suffered as a boy.

"I'm merely going to take a local anesthetic," the mayor said. "The operation won't incapacitate me at all.

"I'll be around tomorrow, as usual."

Senate Rejects $1.16 Silver

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Senate rejected today a proposal to fix the treasury's price for domestically mined silver at $1.16 an ounce.

The treasury now is paying 64.64 cents an ounce for the white metal, but a proclamation fixing that rate will expire on June 30.

JAPS DOOM 10 REDS

TOKYO, June 26 (INS)—Ten Chinese and Manchukuoan Communists awaited execution today following their sentences to death for subversive activities in Manchukuo.

Britain Moves Naval Tests Ahead a Month

LONDON, June 26 (AP)—The British admiralty announced today that normal summer leave period for ships of the home fleet was being advanced to July—a month ahead of the customary time — "preparatory to carrying out of exercises in August."

The announcement also said the customary navy week celebration "will have to be abandoned this year."

Hold 2 Va. Youths In Count Tarring

WARRENTON, Va., June 26 — Back of the beating, tarring and feathering of Count Igor Cassini, youthful columnist for the Washington Times-Herald, officials sought today to learn the "real reason" for the attack.

Meanwhile, two of three men named by Cassini as among his five assailants were arraigned before Trial Justice B. Richards Glascock and waived hearing to the September term of the Fauquier County grand jury.

They were Ian Montgomery and Alexander Calvert, and both were released in $2500 bonds. The third youth, Colin Montgomery, was said by the defense attorney, W. H. Robertson, to be in Baltimore, but his appearance was promised for Monday.

Cassini, youthful Russian, charged that he was lured from a horse show dance at the exclusive Warrenton Country Club early Sunday morning.

A friend of the Russian nobleman, Thomas A. P. Krock, son of Arthur Krock, Washington political writer for the New York Times, said Cassini told him he had been threatened with mutilation by one of five men who met him outside the club.

Krock, arrested after the Cassini incident on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, said the pistol he had was unloaded. He had it with him, he said, because he was afraid "they would get me, too."

The Montgomerys objected, Cassini said, to an item in his column which commented on the fact that the Montgomerys' father, R. H. Montgomery, a gentleman farmer, had not received an invitation to the garden party at the British embassy during the recent visit of the British King and Queen.

The Count said he was dancing with 17-year-old Jane Calvert at the Country Club at one o'clock this morning when a club attendant, Press Ruffner, "tapped me on the shoulder and told me my car had been struck by another in the driveway." Cassini went on:

"I saw five men standing beside the car. As I approached, one jumped me, another clamped his hand on my mouth and a third hit me on the head with a metal flashlight.

"I regained consciousness to find myself on the floor in the back of the car with one man's hands on my throat and another holding my mouth. When the man released my throat to let me catch breath, I asked:

"'What do you fellows want? What's it all about?'

The count quoted the tall youth as saying:

"'You know damned well what you did—you rat. Why did you write about my father not being invited to the British embassy garden party for King George and Queen Elizabeth?'"

Another of the kidnapers is alleged to have said:

"And why did you write that my sister was engaged to a man

MA-IN-LAW CLASH WINS HER DIVORCE

An Arlington husband's alleged threat to have police put his mother-in-law out of his home was cited as "cruelty" today in his wife's divorce plea in Middlesex Probate Court.

The plaintiff, attractive, fashionably attired young Mrs. Carola Erb von Kapff, now of Quincy, won her freedom from George R. F. von Kapff of Arlington.

She told Judge Arthur E. Beane her health was wrecked by her husband's treatment.

Dr. William Boos, noted Harvard toxicologist, appeared as a witness for Mrs. von Kapff. He is her uncle.

Misbehaved

HEALTH WAS WRECKED

After observing the mental and physical condition of his niece, he advised her to leave her husband, Dr. Boos testified. Mrs. von Kapff told the court:

"After my father died and it turned out he hadn't left a lot of money, my husband's whole attitude toward me changed.

"He told me my mother must get out of our house, and he said if she didn't go voluntarily he'd call police and have her put her out.

"My husband insisted I have a baby. I was worried about financial matters and wanted to wait until things were settled. But my husband had his way.

TOLD TO QUIT HUSBAND

"Finally I became almost a mental and physical wreck. I went down and down until I had lost more than 15 pounds. I was advised by my doctor to leave my husband.

"He had left my room and was sleeping in his den. But he told me if I tried to divorce him he'd fight to the limit for custody of our daughter."

MRS. CUNNINGHAM-REID

British M. P. Wins Divorce; Names Actor

LONDON, June 26 (AP)—Captain A. S. Cunningham-Reid, member of Parliament for the wealthy St. Marylebone district of London, was granted a provisional divorce today from his wife, the former Ruth Mary Clarisse, a daughter of Lord Mount Temple.

The captain charged his wife with misconduct with Henry Garat, French movie actor, at a villa at Antibes on the Riviera. The suit was not defended.

The Cunningham-Reids were married in 1927, when the bride was 19. They parted in December, 1936. She and her sister, Lady Louis Mountbatten, share in the estate of their wealthy grandfather, the late Sir Ernest Cassel.

FAVORS GIVING UP HER $3500-YR. JOB

Although its enactment will mean the loss of her $3500-a-year job, Dr. Helen I. McGillicuddy, director of the State Division of Immigration and Americanization, today came out in favor of Governor Saltonstall's proposal to abolish the division.

"The Governor wants economy, and I feel that we should have it," she declared.

The Division, she pointed out, costs $55,000 a year to run. The Governor proposes that its functions be discharged by a committee of six, serving without pay under direction of the Department of Education.

The Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations proposes that the work be made self-supporting, charging fees to those who avail themselves of its services in becoming citizens.

PORTLAND, Me., June 26 (AP)

A revolver cracked suddenly today when a deputy sheriff sought to evict elderly Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Carlton from their home.

The officer and a crew of furniture movers found Carlton, 71, dead of a bullet wound in his chest. A medical examiner declared him a suicide.

Bewildered, Mrs. Carlton told police: "We were both going to shoot ourselves."

Woburn Dad Begins Deportation Battle

Dennis McGonagle, 36, of Arlington street, Woburn, appeared before Immigration Commissioner Mary Ward today in a battle to escape deportation to his native Ireland and separation from his wife and four American-born children.

Entering pleas in his behalf were Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers and a group of Woburn city officials, including City Treasurer Michael Curran and Atty. James E. Henchey.

Charged with illegally entering this country from Canada 16 years ago, McGonagle was taken from his grief-stunned family to a police cell, where later they visited him.

Last Wednesday, during McGonagle's absence from home, an immigration official appeared at the house and told Mrs. McGonagle her husband was wanted for illegal entry into the country by immigration authorities, and that he faced deportation.

IN PANIC, VANISHES

Panic-stricken, the wife later informed her husband of the visit, and McGonagle vanished from home. Late last Saturday, he returned for a brief visit with his wife and children.

It was during this visit that someone who had seen him arrive called police and told of his whereabouts. His arrest followed.

Within a few hours of his arrest, his wife and the children had arrived at the jail. Out of her meagre welfare allotment—the family has been receiving $7.88 a week, plus rent, medicine, and clothing—Mrs. McGonagle had bought a chicken, and had prepared a special dinner for her husband, which she brought to him in his cell.

HOPES FOR BEST

"I thought he needed something special to keep up his courage," she said. "I don't know what will happen to us if they take him away. I can't think of it—except that somehow, this family must be kept together. Perhaps I can get a job and make some kind of home for the children. Perhaps, if he goes back to Ireland, we could go there later.

"I don't know what to do. It seems as if the world has come to an end. I can't believe that they will take my children's father from them."

Friends of the family said Mrs. McGonagle is physically unable to work outside her home.

The four children, all American-born and therefore citizens, are James, 12, Grace, 11, Mary, 8, and Dennis, 2.

Young James, controlling his tears at the police station as the younger children wept unrestrainedly, said bravely that he would be "the man of the family" if his father was sent back to Ireland.

LOTTERY BILL FILED; KELLY URGES DEBATE

Two veteran Democrats clashed with Governor Saltonstall today over the merits of a state lottery as solution to the tax problems of the Republican chief executive.

Former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly not only requested a statewide plebiscite on the question, but asked that the governor debate with him about the merits of letting the voters decide.

The Saltonstall reply was:

"There are subjects I consider of greater importance to the state than to debate a state lottery. I see no reason for debating a state lottery at this time."

Then came Representative Francis X. Coyne of Dorchester with a bill to establish a state lottery. The bill would provide that 50 per cent of the profit be used to foot the state welfare bill.

Kelly, in a letter to the Chief Executive, said he realized Governor Saltonstall was opposed to a state lottery but maintained the citizens of Massachusetts had a right to express their wishes on the question.

He concluded by warning the Governor that if the request for the debate were declined "I shall feel obligated to discuss this matter with the people of the Commonwealth."

City Councilor Blushes When He Hears This!

City Councilor Maurice H. Sullivan of Brighton had reason to get a little red in the face today in Brighton court.

The councilor made a plea to Judge Thomas H. Connelly for Donato Cocuzzic, 53, of Snow st., Brighton, seized in a liquor raid on the Italian-American Club, Academy Hill road, Brighton, and charged with illegally keeping and exposing liquor for sale.

"I know this man for a reputable citizen, your honor," said Councilor Sullivan. "He has not, to my knowledge, ever been arrested before."

The judge inspected a small card bearing Cocuzzio's record.

"He has not only been arrested, but he's had two convictions," replied His Honor. "I recall of my own memory that before repeal he was a constant nuisance to the police, and he is definitely not a man of good repute."

He then fined the prisoner $100, giving him a month in which to pay.

SEEK BAN ON O'HARA 'PROXIES'

A petition of the Securities and Exchange Commission, seeking to restrain the "Walter E. O'Hara election committee" from using the mails to solicit proxies from Narragansett racing association stockholders in an effort to restore O'Hara to management of the Pawtucket, R. I. race track was set for hearing late today before Federal Judge George C. Sweeney.

Joseph P. Rooney, regional SEC director, alleged solicitation material sent out by the committee was not filed with the commission, as required by law, and that it contained false statements.

The election committee, according to the petition, consisted of O'Hara, William A. Needham, George Cohen and Nelson Warren.

The petition asked that the racing association be prohibited from holding a stockholders' meeting, except for the purpose of adjournment, pending full determination of the SEC application for a preliminary injunction.

O'Hara resigned as president, managing director and director of the track in 1938 after a long controversy with former Governor Robert E. Quinn of Rhode Island, during part of which the track's 1937 fall meeting was closed by martial law.

Cinderella Boy Tucker Jailed To Sober Up

GLOUCESTER, June 26—One-time "Cinderella Boy" Burton S. Tucker, 33, was sentenced here today to a month in Salem jail. He pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

Tucker acquired his "Cinderella Boy" nickname back in 1923, when, at the age of 16, he eloped with 45-year-old Mrs. Susan Olive Burtham Simpson, reputed possessor of an $800,000 fortune. They were married over objections of Tucker's family.

The elderly bride's "fortune" eventually disappeared. Tucker returned to Gloucester and a WPA job.

His wife, now 60, has brought repeated legal action against him, seeking support for herself and three children.

Dixie Clipper Ready for Hop

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—The Pan-American flying boat Atlantic Clipper has completed the fifth round-trip mail flight between the United States and Europe—the first one with any but official observers aboard.

Out stepped seven newspapermen and women, members of the original party of 18 press, radio and Pan-American observers who made the east-bound "preview" flight to Marseille, France, which started a week ago.

A sister ship, the Dixie Clipper, will inaugurate official passenger flights to Marseille Wednesday, via the Azores and Lisbon, the route followed by the Atlantic Clipper.

Bid 3 Ex-Governors Attend Pardon Quiz

Three former governors today were "invited" to appear before a special legislative commission investigating Massachusetts pardons and paroles.

Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, secretary to the commission, announced the invitations were sent to former Governors Joseph B. Ely, Charles F. Hurley and James M. Curley, all Democrats.

Sawyer added that members of the governor's council during Hurley's administration also had been "invited" to testify.

The invitations, he said, were the result of the offer of Hurley to appear before the investigating group.

"We thought it well," Sawyer said, "to extend the privilege to former Governors Ely and Curley."

Hurley sailed Saturday for his ancestral home in Ireland. Ely and Curley are still in Boston, but could not be reached immediately.

Members of the Hurley council who received the invitations were former Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Kelly and Councillors Bayard Tuckerman, Eugene A. F. Burtnett, Frank A. Brooks and former Councillors Joseph B. Grossman, Charles J. O'Connor and Edward T. Collins.

Single Birth Spoils Record

THOMPSON, Conn., June 26—Harry Fifield, 62-year-old WPA worker, now believes in miracles.

For his 39-year-old wife, Lydia, mother of six sets of twins, again gave birth to a single baby—a seven-pound boy. All her previous births were multiple ones except two, and another set of twins would have given her the probable world's record for twins.

"Well, the miracle happened," Papa Fifield declared in learning the news from Day Kimball Hospital in Putnam. "Lydia must be very disappointed to know there is only one when there might have been two."

3 Suspects Held In Drug Thefts

Three men, seized by detectives investigating a series of systematic thefts from the United Drug Company's plant in Leon st., Roxbury, today were held in $5000 bail each on larceny charges, by Judge Frankland W. Miles in Roxbury court.

Tearful pleas of the wife of one of them to set a lower bail to enable her husband to join her and their two children while awaiting trial next Friday failed to change the judge's dictum.

The three are George R. Gray, taxi driver, of Corona st., Dorchester; John F. Griffin, of Woodlawn st., Jamaica Plain; and Thomas J. McCormack, of Gibson st., Dorchester.

Griffin and McCormack were employes of the drug company, and it was Griffin's wife who pleaded in court for her husband.

The men were seized Saturday as they were riding in Gray's cab, which also contained, according to police, $169 worth of assorted merchandise taken from the plant. Thefts in the past few months have amounted to thousands, police said.

Andover Bandits Flee Amid Bullets

ANDOVER, June 26—Two men who had been trying to break into a roadside stand on the Andover turnpike near the state police barracks today fled into the woods and escaped in a hail of bullets from the troopers' guns.

One man staggered, apparently wounded, the troopers reported.

N. H. Rifle Squad Doggedly Hunts Slinking 'Lion'

NASHUA, N. H., June 26 (AP)—Police hurriedly armed with rifles at the ready, set out on a "lion hunt" early today after a man they described as "cold, stone sober," reported seeing a loose "king of beasts" slinking around the railroad station.

As the safari followed the supposed trail of the loose "man-eater" along the tracks, a railroad man halted the hunt by whistling for his St. Bernard dog, clipped for the summer with a bushy mane and tail.

Hold 'Jekyll-Hyde' Cop

Alleged to have led a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde double life as a police officer by day and a burglar by night, former Patrolman Millard T. Merritt of Arlington was brought into Middlesex superior court today on breaking and entering and larceny indictments.

Judge Raoul H. Beaudreau held him in $1000.

Arraignment of Merritt was ordered after alienists at Boston Psychopathic Hospital had pronounced him "non-committable."

At the time of his arrest, May 28, Merritt allegedly confessed that he had looted a drug store, a department store and a gasoline station, all in Arlington.

Stolen articles, found at his home, included women's stockings, cigars and cigarettes and automobile oil, police said.

A world war veteran, Merritt had served ten years as a member of the Arlington police department. He is married and the father of one child.

LEHMAN HITS WPA CRITICISM

ALBANY, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—Assertion the federal government was using public works spending to "extend its powers into the states" and competing with private enterprise, brought New Deal support on the floor of the governors' conference today from Herbert H. Lehman, New York.

Immediately following the statement of Republican Governor Raymond E. Baldwin, Connecticut, Democratic Governor Lehman declared:

"We have not found that the federal spending program has been in competition with private enterprise. Generally speaking, I think the federal projects have real economic value and are for the most part a good investment."

Previously, Governor Baldwin had pointed to the large number of persons employed in WPA, NYA and other government work projects which are "administered out of Washington."

Said Governor Lehman:

"There is no question that jobs in private enterprise are more to be desired than public works jobs, but we are facing an actuality. Private industry hasn't been able to give enough jobs to relieve unemployment. Pending such a time the federal and state governments will have to do their part."

Govs. John W. Bricker or Ohio and Robert L. Cochran of Nebraska then discussed restrictions placed upon federal spending in their states.

Both said their Legislatures had placed restrictions on the raising of local bonds for federal projects, limiting the scope of such work so they would not compete with private enterprise.

Republicans and New Deal standard bearers, several mentioned as 1940 presidential prospects, sat side by side at the opening of 51st annual conference as Gov. Baldwin precipitated the debate.

Fight to Save Trees At Revere City Hall

A fight to save a group of trees growing on the lawn of City Hall, Revere, was begun today by City Councilor Edward White and a group of citizens. The trees are endangered by a project to turn the lawn into a parking space for the cars of city officials.

Mayor Gillis, White said, had informed him the original plan had been to clear the rear of the area for parking space and leave the lawn fronting on Pleasant st. in its present condition.

Pleasant st. residents, however, complain that workmen have already started on removal of trees from the entire area. City officials have contended the parking space would eliminate traffic congestion in Pleasant st.

MARTIN ASKS CURB ON WASTE

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—A Republican demand for a $500,000,000 cut in federal expenses was received in Congress today while administration leaders were trying to rush through new relief and farm funds before the fiscal year ends Friday night.

Rep. Martin (R.) of Massachusetts, the House minority leader, completed a bill providing for a 10 per cent reduction in all "properly susceptible" appropriations. He excluded such items as "relief of distress," social security, war veterans benefits, and interest on the public debt.

Estimating that Congress would authorize expenditure of $13,000,000,000 this year, Martin said in a statement:

"Despite much talk of economy, there has been no action to that end because the Administration and its spokesmen in Congress have refused to co-operate with the earnest efforts of Republicans and a small group of patriotic Democrats in the House."

A senate appropriations subcommittee hoped to complete revision of the house-approved $1,735,000,000 relief bill by nightfall, after changing several features opposed by the administration.

Senate leader Barkley (D) of Kentucky, wants to sidetrack temporarily the controversial monetary bill in order to begin relief debate tomorrow, but western senators blocking the former measure said they would object unless their demands for higher silver prices were met.

The monetary measure, approved by the House weeks ago, would extend for two years the administration's powers to devalue the dollar further and to maintain the $2,000,000,000 exchange stabilization fund.

WAGNER ACT SEEN COSTING 12 BILLION

WASHINGTON, June 26 (INS)—Charging the National Labor Relations Act had encouraged strikes to such an extent that it added $12,000,000,000 to the public debt since 1937, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States today warned Congress that present administration of the act was preventing business from "going forward."

Chamber spokesmen presented the Senate labor committee with demands for seven changes in the act, including an amendment which would outlaw the closed shop.

The committee, now conducting hearings on proposed amendments to the Wagner Act, was told by John W. O'Leary, chairman of the executive committee of the C of C that the labor act and its administration by the present NLRB "has encouraged rather than discouraged labor disturbances."

He warned that unless the act is amended "there will be another crescendo of industrial disturbance and destruction." He added: "That causes apprehension and hesitation about going forward."

B. C. Heacock, president of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. and chairman of the Chamber's committee on manufacture, also presented arguments to the committee for Wagner Act changes.

The seven changes demanded by the Chamber, as presented by Heacock, follow:

Clauses to preserve the right of employers to freedom of speech.

Right of employers to petition for collective bargaining elections.

Provisions to prohibit coercion of employes from any source, particularly from unions.

Repeal of the closed shop provisions.

Stripping of the board of power to appoint trial examiners and placing the power in the hands of the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Broader right of appeal to the courts.

Provisions to make rules of courts of equity apply to hearings before the board.

Heacock, charging that present trial examiners show antagonism toward employers, also suggested that the Department of Justice be required to report on qualifications of trial examiners.

Report Administration Will Agree to Changes

WASHINGTON, June 26 (INS)—The administration has decided to accept revision of the Wagner act this session of Congress provided amendments can be agreed to which will not alter basic intent of the law.

SEIZE HUB MOTHER AS DESERTER

Through the combinating of a Boston Sunday Advertiser story, the caution of a tourist cottage proprietor in Old Orchard, Me., and alertness of the Old Orchard police chief, a Dorchester mother who allegedly deserted four children today was held for return to Boston.

She is Helen Madden, 24, of Canterbury street, against whom a warrant was obtained Saturday after police who broke into the Canterbury street apartment found the youngest of the children in bed without clothing.

FATHER IS SEIZED

That baby is William, nine months.

Loretta, two years, and Joan, three years, are the others. Their sister, Helen, who is only four, was "in charge."

Hours after the four were found, the father, William Madden, went to Roxbury courthouse to learn where the children had been sent, was arrested on a charge of neglect and was released in $500 personal recognizance for a hearing July 7.

An alarm was sent out for the young mother, who, he said, had been missing since Monday.

In the Old Orchard tourist camp when an unaccompanied woman arrived and checked in, the proprietor, in accordance with her custom to notify police in unusual circumstances, called the station and reported the new arrival.

The police chief, after looking over the new arrival without her knowledge, called Boston police for a complete description of the mother who had been reported missing.

CHILDREN CARED FOR

Armed with that information he drew admission from the woman guest at the camp that she was Mrs. Madden.

Today Police Lieutenant John J. Gale sent Special Officer Harold Jacobson to Old Orchard with instructions to bring her back.

Meanwhile two of her children are in private homes and two have been placed in the Chardon Street Home.

New Respite For 2 Slayers

Governor Saltonstall today announced that he will recommend a respite to the first week in August for Wallace Green and Walter St. Saveur, who are awaiting electrocution at State Prison.

This action of the governor's followed receipt of a letter from Arthur T. Lyman, state commissioner of correction, who reported that "certain difficulties are being experienced in the installation of new equipment in the death chamber."

Lyman suggested delay in the electrocution of the two men who were convicted of the first degree killing of a Somerville storekeeper, in order to insure the chair was in proper condition.

Holyoke Hatters Face Wage Trial

Latest in the group of Massachusetts shoe and hat manufacturing concerns charged with failure to pay employes the minimum wage, the Sussex Hats, Inc., of Holyoke and its president, William Wolf, this afternoon were indicted by the federal grand jury. Both were charged jointly with violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, and with failure to keep records of salaries paid approximately 200 workers.

GARBAGE PILES UP IN STRIKE

Garbage piled up today in Somerville as 20 garbage collectors went on strike for more money and the city sanitary engineer, John F. Meskell was on his honeymoon to the Gaspe Peninsular and the World's Fair in New York.

The five truck drivers and 15 helpers employed by William G. Potter, garbage removal contractor, went on strike at 6 a. m., demanding $35 a week for drivers and $32 for helpers. Both now get $28.

Potter, who has finished two years of a five-year contract, is responsible for removal of the refuse, according to the contract. Today he was informed over the telephone by Mayor John M. Lynch:

"My concern is the collection of garbage. The health and safety of the public must be guarded. It is the right of any group to get together for collective bargaining. I have always been on the side of labor."

PLAN STIFF PENALTY FOR SPIES

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Alarmed by reports that the nation's new defense program has brought a sharp increase in the activities of foreign spies, Congress is preparing legislation increasing the penalties on all forms of espionage.

Chairman Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts said today that early Senate action would be sought on a bill approved by the Senate naval affairs committee to increase the prison term for espionage from two to ten years.

The House already has passed a similar bill. Chairman Ashurst (D.) of Arizona announced the appointment of a judiciary subcommittee headed by Senator King (D.) of Utah and including Senators Neely (D.) of West Virginia, McCarron (D.) of Nevada, Norris (Ind.) of Nebraska and Austin (R.) of Vermont to conduct hearings on it.

The House judiciary committee is considering a bill penalizing attempts to interfere with military discipline. It would provide for the licensing of civilian military organizations the fingerprinting of aliens.

DIES IN 2D CRASH ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

A freak accident, in which an injured man run down by one auto, was killed as the car speeding him to a hospital smashed into a third machine, boosted the week-end death toll to four when reported by state police today.

John Riley, 35, of Central avenue, Reading, was critically hurt, struck by a car as he was walking across Route 28 in North Reading.

State police of the Andover barracks reported that Riley was picked up in a second machine, operated by Ellsworth Croswell, son of Police Chief Thomas Croswell of North Reading.

Racing south on the highway to take Riley to the hospital, the Croswell car skidded on the wet pavement and crashed into the rear of an auto driven by Preston G. Rolfe of Baker street, Lynn.

Riley was dead when extricated from the wreckage.

In other accidents Jan Chruicici, 65, of Portland street, Cambridge, was killed while walking along the Worcester turnpike in Westboro, and Mrs. Lillian Burnham, 63, of Rochester, N. H., was run down and killed near her home. Joan Horton, 6, of Saugus, drowned in Parker river, Saugus.

Live 20,000 Years

Frozen Plants Are Revived

MOSCOW, June 26 (AP)—Tass, official Russian news agency, reported today living organisms dating back 20,000 years have been revived by Soviet scientists after a long sleep in frozen soil.

Species of water plants and fungi and also bacteria were found in the frozen soil strata of eastern Siberia near the bones of extinct mammoth bison.

Soviet scientists, using nature's refrigerator in the Arctic for their experiments, have been seeking to locate the boundary between life and death for many years.

Back in September, 1936, they were successful in reviving plant organisms calculated to have been frozen solid from 1000 to 3000 years in the land of perpetual ice.

The All-Union Academy of Sciences then undertook experiments to revive "dead" organisms of even greater antiquity.

The region north of the Arctic Circle provides an ideal workshop since the scientists need dig down but a few yards to strike the zone of perpetual ice which is from 165 to 200 feet thick.

In this frozen belt, nature has stored for centuries both plant and animal organisms which may be dead or in a state of suspension.

Dance Cruises Start Saturday

The first "dance cruise" of the season through the Cape Cod Canal will embark next Saturday, the Nantasket-Boston Steamship Company announced today.

To the strains of a well-known orchestra, couples will dance on the decks of the S. S. Town of Hull, detailed to make the first of the 150-mile trips which will be continued each week throughout the summer.

In addition to music, facilities will be provided for deck games, under the direction of Purser John Shannon, familiar figure to thousands who ride the steamers to and from Nantasket Beach. Commanding the Town of Hull is Capt. H. E. Ricker.

GIRL CITES HITCH-HIKE DANGER

"No hitch-hiking girl," said Lulu, "regardless of how careful and capable she is, can be any match for a strong man while she is hitch-hiking.

"I have done plenty of hitch-hiking, and I felt very sure of myself. I thought as long as I had moral standards and strong arms, I could overcome anything. But I was wrong. This has been a severe lesson to me.

LET OTHERS PROFIT

"Hitch-hiking is dangerous. Let other girls profit by what happened to me."

"I fell asleep," Lulu declares, "and when I woke up I found myself married, or thought I was. The driver told me he had brought a justice of the peace to the room and that the ceremony was performed while I was sleeping.

"I didn't see the justice, but I did see a marriage certificate which the driver showed me, and which bore my name."

"HE GAVE ME A DIME"

On the way back to Watertown she said she lost her certificate. And while [illegible] they weren't married [illegible] there had been no ceremony.

"He gave me a dime for carfare when we reached Watertown, and said he'd see me in six months," she added.

She returned to her home, but did not wait six months to determine whether or not she was a bride. Last Monday, she hiked back to Syracuse and was the heap of policeman's interest. [illegible] dresser. Police questioned them both and then released the driver without charges.

"He denied everything," Lulu says. "Anyway, he was married, and his wife was with him at the police station. She gave me $4 to get back to Chelsea. The driver told police he was only 'kidding.'"

TOKYO, June 26 (AP). Domei Japanese news agency said today that [illegible] Manchukuo had recorded 131 Soviet Russian airplanes shot down since May 21 in fighting along the troubled Outer Mongolia-Manchukuo border.

A Domei broadcast from Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo, quoted a Kwantung army headquarters announcement that 70 Russian planes were brought down the Thursday [illegible] on Friday and 15 more on Saturday.

A belated report of heavy aerial fighting Saturday it was said, described a night battle in which three Soviet S B type bombers escorted by 21 fighting planes dropped bombs [illegible] over Amuka in the east of Lake Bor, from an altitude of 11000 feet.

Domei said Japanese had now put [illegible] to flight.

Meanie Cops Ban Blind Man As Auto Driver

PEORIA, Ill., June 26 (AP)—The police had one for the record books today—the apprehension of a blind man for driving an automobile.

Policemen Vern Roberson and Leo Mauschbaugh vouched for this story.

Harold Swords, 26, a blind man receiving a state blind pension, who lives on the outskirts of East Peoria, startled neighbors when they saw him driving a car near his home.

Robinson and Mauschbaugh reported they found Swords driving an ancient jallopy down a quarter-mile stretch of little-used gravel road running from his home to a brick yard.

"I feel my way along," he said. "I like to run down to the brick yards to chin with the boss."

The astonished policemen hustled him down to the station. They said he had no auto license and, of course no driver's license. He was released after he promised to drive no more.

The car stopped on a country road. The men jumped out, dragged me with them, threw me on the stony ground, tore off my clothes and kicked me. Then they unwrapped a pot of tar and a bag of feathers and covered me from chin to feet.

He said the tall youth threatened [illegible] brother, Count Oleg [illegible] who recently married the [illegible] Chicago paper's [illegible] Merry Fahrney Pickering. He declared:

"The one who threatened to mutilate me said: 'Let's get to work with the razor. Let's fix this foreigner up so he won't show himself in Virginia.'

The other fellow said: 'No, this is enough.' They finished the tarring and feathering, tossed me my trousers and one shoe, and drove away with my other garments."

Cassini said that just before the [illegible] his assailants jabbed [illegible] several times on the head.

May 31—"Now Mrs. Montgomery goes around Warrenton slipping under everybody's nose the invitation and looking down on the biggies of the town.

But what Warrentonians wonder is why Mrs. Montgomery has been invited."

Benny Heads for N. Y. After Triumph in Film

By JAMES F. McENANEY

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 26. Following a triumphant reception and the world's premiere of his new picture, "Man About Town," Jack Benny, radio and screen star, [illegible] farewell to this city today and headed for New York.

Benny was accompanied to Gotham by his two grand costars in the new picture, Dorothy Lamour and Eddie "Rochester" Anderson. Also Eddie Anderson and [illegible] were in the party.

It was a proud occasion for the group because their new film was being heralded by critics throughout the nation as one of the outstanding pictures of the year. Speaking of "Rochester" he proved to be the sensation in the [illegible] Harlem sequence of the picture and also playing himself as the top colored comedian in show business today.

And it is to "Rochester" that Benny places much of the credit for the huge reception given the premiere showing which climaxed a three day celebration.

Movie and radio stars including the entire Benny radio company which broadcast its final program of the season from here last night along with 200 newspaper folk and 3 motion picture executives, joined this city's 33,000 citizens in the festival.

Dorothy Lamour the appealing lady, caused the usual gentlemanly [illegible] a slice of grief when the crowd threatened to break police lines over their eagerness to see her as she arrived for the premiere.

Mary Livingston (Mrs. Benny), Jack, 270-pound Andy Devine and his lovely wife, also provoked the crowd to wild cheering when they stepped out of their limousine.

"Man About Town," which opens at Metropolitan Theater, Boston, Thursday, cost over $1,000,000 to produce.

'Yokel Boy' In Final Week

Lew Brown's new musical comedy "Yokel Boy" begins its final week at the Shubert theater tonight prior to its New York premiere.

"Yokel Boy" featured players are Buddy Ebsen and Judy Canova. The supporting cast includes Dixie Dunbar, Jackie Heller, Lew Januney, Phil Silvers, Ralph Riggs, Mark Plant, Lew Hearn, Ann and Zeke Canova, Almira Sessions, Ralph Holmes, Ben Roberts, Charles Althoff, The Minute Men from Lexington, 50 Corn fed Beauties, and Al Goodman and his orchestra.

The excellent musical score is by Lew Brown, Charlie Tobias and Sam H. Stept. The dance numbers have been staged by Gene Snyder.

JAPAN: NIPPON'S PLANES DEFEAT RUSSIANS AS UNDECLARED WAR SHAKES ASIA!

ALL THE NEWS AND PICTURES FIT TO PRINT

DO YOU WANT A[illegible] involved in foreign entanglements?

Do you want America to "take sides" in foreign disputes leading to foreign wars?

Do you want America made an arsenal for other countries?

Do you want America to become engaged in another European war?

Pending in Congress is a joint resolution which could cause all these things to happen.

This resolution would repeal the Neutrality Law by abolishing the embargo and by permitting sales of munitions and by placing the President in full control.

It would permit the President to say what country or countries shall receive arms.

20 YEARS AGO—OVER THE TOP TO DEATH!
Must Today's Young Men Suffer Similar Fate?

It would make America an UNNEUTRAL nation in the next great war—and unneutrality would drag us into the war.

If you want peace—if you want America to KEEP OUT of foreign wars—write or telegraph AT ONCE to your Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Ask them to VOTE AGAINST the Administration's so-called "Neutrality" Bill introduced by Representative Sol Bloom.

YANKEE YOUNG MEN can and do achieve success, despite economic crises and depressions, says the New England Council.

As proof, the Council points to attainments of a "typical six."

One purchased a shipyard, repaired boats damaged by last Fall's hurricane and created a substantial bank account.

The second borrowed money, bought a small herd of Ayrshire cattle and won distinction as a judge of cows at a number of Connecticut and Massachusetts shows.

The third had a flair for manufacturing an electric baseball game, which he had developed in high school. He produced and sold 200 in the first year, on borrowed capital and hired helpers. He now employs 50 men.

The fourth started a store, "took a chance" on a garage of ordinary size, prospered and acquired two other stores.

The fifth sold school textbooks for three years after his graduation from high school, developed new ideas about the work, and so satisfactorily explained them that, today, he heads a nationally known company.

The sixth dipped into the future of his community to use deposits of peat moss in the country. So he took over 5000 acres of undeveloped bog land, established markets and in a few months was shipping his product throughout the country.

Arthur Brisbane, great writer and editor, would have liked these men.

Often and wisely, he advised Young America:

"Don't wait for others to bring you success; go after it yourself. Imagination, plus thought, plus ACTION—that does it."

BURIED IN THE NEWS is an interesting item; on the very day Their Majesties of Great Britain bade us adieu and turned homeward, FINLAND PAID her regular semi-yearly instalment on the war debt.

On that same date—June 15—while the United States was still basking in an atmosphere of kindly adulation for the King and Queen, the Secretary of the Treasury had a polite note in his pocket from the Chancellor of the Exchequer regretting that England, AS USUAL, could pay nothing on her five thousand million dollar debt to us.

There were thus these two gestures of friendship from foreign nations to the United States during June:

MIGHTY England, with a great fanfare, sent us King George and Queen Elizabeth.

But LITTLE Finland, without any fuss or feathers, PAID ON A LOAN.

Problem Child

A PROBLEM child they called her—as if that were a disgrace . . . and social workers thought of her as just another case. . . . Incorrigible, untractable were phrases that they used . . . and even of delinquency the child had been accused. . . . For her psychiatrists devised the cleverest of tests . . . and her intelligence quotient sought—how fruitless were their quests . . . when all she needed was a kiss, a word of sympathy. . . . A single act of kindness to her heart would hold the key. . . . And from a hunted animal, rebellious, shy, and wild . . . there would emerge a little girl—and not a problem child.

THE NEWS that [illegible] to the South Atlantic and New York [illegible] tomatoes [illegible] 7 [illegible] a year [illegible] of [illegible] to the [illegible]

The [illegible] frog [illegible] were dressed [illegible] strange green [illegible] were fed with [illegible] for the [illegible] and the merry [illegible]

And will the [illegible] ear of the elevated [illegible] in their ears next [illegible]? I have found persons who confess with a sheepish grin that they rather miss the [illegible] railroad. But there is little danger that the nostalgia will bar us from full appreciation of the Sixth Avenue trees.

The [illegible] fancy of Joyce Kilmer's poem, Only God Can Make a Tree, is proof enough of this.

IF POE'S Mr. [illegible] had nine lives, [illegible] he surely would [illegible] for a pastoral Eden, interwoven with [illegible] bridges and viaducts. Improbably will come anyway.

The City of Tomorrow will not be all skyways and ramps and [illegible] but it will need cars zipping [illegible] a maze of steel and [illegible] There'll be trees [illegible] too.

The [illegible] of the elevated and [illegible] with a double row of [illegible] glass [illegible] all in the brief space of a year or two, is good theater, in its way. Things like that haven't happened in our devil-take-the-hindmost progress - in which the hindmost all too frequently has been a tree, or a city child who needed it.

A GROVE OF ENDURING PEACE AND BEAUTY
"City of Tomorrow Will Not Be All Skyways and Ramps"

They say the trees will "air condition" Sixth Avenue, "making the avenue cooler in hot weather and warmer in winter." Trees are primarily the air conditioners of the planet and they are supremely important in its delicately balanced life equations.

EVERY pastoral poet, from Virgil, writing his "Georgics," on down to Joyce Kilmer, has known that. Hesiod, the Greek, had the feeling of it, perhaps, better than any other.

The following quotation from his farm almanac is included here to suggest an ancient wisdom which cities sometimes forget, but which we may yet regain:

"When Zeus has finished sixty wintry days after the solstice, then the star Arcturus leaves the holy stream of ocean and first rises brilliant at dusk. After him, the shrilly wailing daughter of Pandion, the swallow, appears to men when the spring is just beginning. Before she comes, prune the vines, for it is best so.

"But when the snail climbs up the plants from the earth to escape the Pleiades, then it is no longer the reason for digging vineyards, but to whet your sickles and rouse up your slaves."

Political Parade -1- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, June 20. The [illegible] and female [illegible] are [illegible] the Communist-ridden WPA Theater Project with an [illegible] of tears.

The [illegible] can never wipe out the [illegible] piled up by the Woodrum Committee, and endorsed by the House of Representatives, in a long over-due effort on the part of the national lawmakers to give some protection to hard working taxpayers from the [illegible] leeches who have fastened themselves like bloodsuckers on the very government they would undermine.

IT SEEMS quite apparent that many warm-hearted persons who have rushed to the defense of the Theater set-up under Harry Hopkins' wasteful regime, have never read the sworn testimony before the Woodrum Committee, which forms the basis of congressional action.

Otherwise they would hardly have given this project their support.

Mrs. Roosevelt in her capacity of first columnist of the land, is asked and concludes her expression of regret at the termination of this project by sighing, "However, the wisdom of Congress must never be questioned," an advanced position for the famous lady.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD
Should Examine the Record

Especially which her distinguished husband has not yet reached.

"There are a great many people," she says, "who feel that we are sacrificing something which has meant much to the development of culture in many parts of this country."

If Mrs. Roosevelt and Tallulah Bankhead, gifted daughter of the Alabama Bankheads, would examine the record turned up by the Woodrum Committee they would discover there is as much culture in "Sing for Your Supper" as could be got in a garbage can.

Yet this production, according to testimony before the Woodrum Committee cost the taxpayers, up to May 2, the sum of $285,763.91, and is still "running"—at a loss to the aforesaid taxpayers.

Charles St. Bernard Dunsmore Walton, a former New York theatrical producer, and later a stage manager for the WPA Theater Project, testified before the Woodrum Committee on June 6:

"The Theater Project is dominated by the Communists and the Workers' Alliance.

"The set-up of the whole arts project is nothing more nor less than a fence to sow the seeds of Communism."

BEFORE SENATORS vote on the denial of any more taxpayers' money to the Communistic Theater Project, they will be given plenty of stuff that Mr. Woodrum has, that he did not himself read to the House.

Meanwhile there can be only great regret that a columnist with such a vast appeal as Mrs. Roosevelt, and an actress of such high standing as Miss Bankhead, should, in ignorance of the record on which the lawmakers in Congress acted, give the high support of their talent and genius to indefensible a thing.

Should Young America Vote at 18?

By Elsie Robinson

DOES YOUNG AMERICA mature mentally earlier than its parents did? And, because of this earlier maturity, should it be allowed to vote at 18 instead of 21?

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY, MOST SYMPATHETIC FRIEND OF YOUTH AND STAUNCHEST DEFENDER OF ITS RIGHTS, BELIEVES IT DOES AND SHOULD! AND HAS LAID HIS PROPOSITION BEFORE THE PRESIDENT.

Suffrage at 18? There's a suggestion that will be greeted with indignant boos from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate . . . as the American Institute of Public Opinion soon discovered when it broadcast the question

"Do you favor reducing the age at which American citizens can vote, from 21 to 18?"

THE ANSWER was a prompt and peeved Thumbs Down. 83 per cent of those questioned being emphatically against the idea, only 17 per cent for it. Negative arguments as follows:

FIRST. Young people under 21 are too ignorant of public problems to vote wisely.

SECOND. Most young people under 21 are still finishing their education, have plenty of time to vote later.

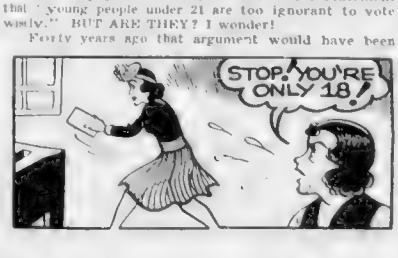
THIRD. Suffrage at 18 has never been attained before; why start it now?

Only one of these arguments deserves serious consideration. Prohibit youngsters from voting because they haven't "finished their education"? It's a joke. Most of our present voting citizens haven't even STARTED an education, much less finished one.

As for ruling against such a step because "it hasn't been tried before," neither were one-piece bathing suits, radios, Madame Secretaries, fireless cookers, smallpox anti-toxin, bathtubs and corn plasters once. There has to be a first time for everything, why not for 18-year-old suffrage?

The only protest worthy of note is the statement that "young people under 21 are too ignorant to vote wisely." BUT ARE THEY? I wonder!

Forty years ago that argument would have been



But modern Young Americans — THEY'RE DIFFERENT! They're different from the day they're born . . . speeded up, wised up by a new machine age tempo and technique which has taken five centuries in its first vast stride.

HERE'S EVIDENCE. For the last two years it has been my great good fortune to get the first and only Young American newspaper opinion I consider. My daily mail runs from 400 letters up. Sometimes to 1,000.

What kind of letters? Lots [illegible] tripe? Anything but! These 16-18 and 19-21 year-old youngsters TALK ABOUT LIFE AS IS. [illegible] problems and pressures with [illegible] I've known existed. Taxes [illegible] . . . and old-age pensions [illegible] every angle of our [illegible] and economic chaos.

So I'm voting with Judge Lindsey when he suggests that we [illegible] with suffrage at 18 [illegible] only as a reward for its [illegible]

Two Cakes at Bromfield-Byron Wedding

BETSY BYRON and her bridegroom, Arthur Ware Bromfield, drove away from their wedding in Weston Saturday evening, with their heads together, happily reading the first congratulatory message addressed to them as "Mr. and Mrs." . . . It was a telegram from the bridegroom's parents in California and was delivered during the ceremony to their chauffeur who placed it on the back seat, and they picked it up as soon as they got into the car . . .

At the reception at Sky Meadows, Weston, home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Byron, there were two cakes to cut . . . one for the bride and another for Mr. and Mrs. Byron, who were celebrating their 27th wedding anniversary . . . Before Betsy tossed her bouquet, which was caught by her sister Nancy, the whole family had long chuckles over Arthur's parents in Santa Barbara, California, to tell them all about the wedding . . . The honeymooners are making a flying

A CLOSE FRIEND of many Boston debutantes, this smiling bride, Mrs. A. J. Drexel Paul, Jr., shown with her bridegroom, has often attended important parties here. She is the former Margaret Delano, cousin of President Roosevelt. Several Boston girls were bridesmaids at the wedding Saturday in Rhinebeck-on-Hudson, N. Y. Mr. Paul is related to the famous Biddle and Drexel families of Philadelphia.

Newton Man Takes Bride

Mrs. Edward B. Lee of Scarsdale, N. Y., announces the marriage of her daughter, Constance Lee, to William Esmond Rowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Esmond Rowley of Newton Center.

The wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon in Scarsdale. The bride, who graduated from Vassar and received her Master's degree in Music from Columbia in 1938, has been teaching music at a fashionable girls school in Brookline the past year.

Greetings!

Today's greetings are for Dorothy Storer who is celebrating her nineteenth birthday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. P. Storer of Cambridge, and a debutante of the past season. She is an accomplished horse woman and a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club.

Blake-Shaw Bridal Today In Wellesley

Miss Rosemary Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Parkman Shaw of Needham, is being married this afternoon in St. Andrea's Church, Wellesley, to George Baty Blake, son of Mrs. George B. Blake of Brookline and Lenox.

The bride's three sisters, Eleanor, Joan and Gertrude, are her only attendants. Carroll House-well is serving as best man and the usher corps includes S. Parkman Shaw, Jr., Walter Hamilton, C. Haven Ladd, John Turner, Daniel Sortwell, Jr., Charles Cary and John Coburn.

The bride, a debutante of the 1937-38 season, was educated in Boston and Europe. Mr. Blake, who graduated from Harvard last week, belongs to the Fly Club, Hasty Pudding and the Tennis and Racquet Club.

Plans Salem Luncheon

Miss Barbara Poppen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Gray Phippen of Salem, will celebrate Chestnut Street Day on June 28 by giving a luncheon with her sister deb, Betty Gray Lovejoy of Swampscott.

The party will take place at the Phippen home, one of the thirty architecturally famous Salem mansions facing Chestnut street which will be opened to the public on that day. A stage coach offering rides down the street, bowling, dancing, a Punch and Judy show and hostesses in Colonial costumes will be other attractions to help recreate the atmosphere of the early 18th century when the houses were built.

Classmates of Miss Phippen at Beaver Country Day who will attend the luncheon include Ann Tarbell, Rebecca Irving, Alexandra Matz, Bevery Pratt, Carol Clark Shepard, and Alicia Clark. Also Gladys Putnam, Margaret C. Smith, Barnet Ging, Shirlee White and Barbara Young.

Engagements

Among June bride-elects is Ruth Rice daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Keeler Rice of Stow, whose engagement has just been announced to Lambert Henry Bigelow, son of the George Lambert Bigelows of Marlboro.

Miss Rice attended Lasell Junior College and the New England Conservatory of Music. Mr. Bigelow graduated from Suffolk Law School.

Another important wedding engagement is that of Marjorie Irene Jones and Roger William Thwing, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Thwing of Winchester.

Miss Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Jones of Arlington, graduated from Simmons where she was a member of the Academy, honor society.

DAY had been thinking, 'Burne is giving a round a week for me now. I'll want my own money for the doctor . . . and baby. A pound a week isn't much. I've got to be thankful Mrs. York lets me come.' She had thought a great deal and very humbly about her position at Wellington Villa.

But Mrs. York had thought of it in another way. She's not a guest. It's almost charity. She'll have to have the little kid, and do with it.

I can see she's only too glad to foist herself on me. Where's her own mother?

Nobody. Naturally.

Security Selling Methods Is Issue

The controversy over public bidding versus private sales of securities is still a major issue in financial circles . . . With much in the way of sound argument mustered out by both sides . . . The investment banking fraternity, as a whole, is in favor of private sales under some conditions . . .

SIGNIFICANCE . . . Of the phrase private sale . . . largely obscured by the prejudice with which anything smacking of restraint or monopoly is viewed today . . . It is unfortunate that a more apt description is unavailable . . .

But a forthright statement of fact compounded with the results of private investment bankers' [illegible] long a key component . . .

To ask Francis E. Ford, manager of the Boston firm of Coffin & Burr, Inc., devotes himself to the current issue of Investment Banking, organ of the Investment Bankers Association of America . . .

In a frankly titled article "Public Bidding vs. Private Sales" . . . In which he wisely discards an approach from the standpoint of underwriter protection of position or profit . . . Favors instead the advantages accruing to both the public and issuer in payment of reasonable compensation for distributive services . . .

PROBLEMS . . . Of the prospective enterprise of all sorts . . . Mr. Ford points out, are not less pressing, or specialized than the proper equipment of plant . . . Carefully planned and continuing [illegible] is extremely demanded . . . But when the matter of financing is reduced to a purely competitive proposition the necessity of [illegible] . . . Galento Unruffled At Thought of Louis

SUMMIT, N. J., June 25—THAT THUNDEROUS BODY of Militia politicians, the New York prize fight commission, arrived to thump Tony Galento's chest, sound his liver and listen to his heart.

Some 30 press attaches, camp followers and intimate loafers crowded into the little training shack where the bulky man stretched naked on a rubbing slab, jiggling his stomach and making clinical coughs at the request of the attending physician. The worst they could find was a calcified knuckle resulting from an old ring injury which stood up like a bunion on his right fist; a collection of adipose wrinkles about his stomach and a wealth of scar tissue about his eyes. And when Dr. Will Walker, a portly, squat man who is brother to ex-Mayor Walker, packed away his instruments, General Phelan harrumphed importantly in his throat and voted Tony in acceptable fighting trim.

And so, he said, the press should not be deceived because Tony had indulged in some empty air-pawings and perfunctory shovings to keep him in the perfect pink of fitness. "Did you say 'Punk," demanded a journalist. "No," snorted Mr. Jacobs, indignantly, "I said 'Pink'."

Three were grouped behind Martin with 75's. They were Nelson Occhialini of Toy Town Tavern, Winchendon; Vin Obey, assistant at the home club and C. J. Mack Sennett from the Country Club of Greenfield.

Thirty-six holes were to be played today and 36 more tomorrow.

Nelson and Smith who drove all night from Scranton, Penn., where they had participated in the Anthracite open, were given late starting times so they could grab a few hours' sleep.

Harold "Jug" McSpaden, defending champion from Winchester, was 35 out.

LOUIS LOOKS BAD

Confidentially [illegible] Louis [illegible] Lou [illegible] Lou [illegible] Louis [illegible] Louis [illegible] Louis

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, JUNE 26.—Mike Jacobs' blood pressure is not as high as it was a week ago. This improvement is due to the fact the cash customers are displaying more interest in Mike's 15-round world's heavyweight championship bout between Joe Louis and Tony Galento that will be dropped in under the lights at the Yankee Stadium on Wednesday night.

When the bout was first arranged, Jacobs predicted a gate of $1,000,000. Galento didn't help the build-up by his bout with Nate Brown in Detroit and his appearances as a referee and in exhibitions. There were persons who were so unkind as to suggest that Galento couldn't stand up for 15 rounds let alone fight that long.

This condition caused a great chill in the vicinity of the box office. Even the later presence of Louis and Galento in their training camps didn't stimulate the ticket sale.

It was suggested that Mike use some of the speed balls they are reported to be giving horses at New York tracks to boom his ticket situation.

Old Man Gloom served a fourth scotch at many a tavern in New York than did the two fighters what the promoter was unable to do. People started [illegible] what will happen when Louis hits Tony in the [illegible].

"But suppose Tony whacks Louis on the chin with his left hook?" asserted the man who preferred rye to scotch. "In such an event he'll knock the champion cold."

Curiously enough, [illegible] in sport. One of the big-time promoters along [illegible] days used to say that if you couldn't get people [illegible] a fight any other way you could do so by [illegible] was "in the big." The fans argued the promoter would [illegible] of the execution was as good as the [illegible].

• • •

JOE JACOBS, [illegible] Galento's [illegible] forces. Joe has done [illegible] and has been [illegible] for making the [illegible].

In the past [illegible] matches that some of them were about [illegible] the match Joe [illegible] and Galento a portion of [illegible]. He made himself a pest [illegible] and gave out [illegible] from [illegible] ahead of [illegible].

The public [illegible] new aspect [illegible] soon became [illegible] barroom debate.

"I'll do better financially with Galento than I did with Schmeling," Jacobs told me. "I'll get a third cut of the money, while as you know I didn't get that kind of money when piloting Schmeling."

At the end of their business relationships, Jacobs only received 10 per cent of Schmeling's purses in this country, while he didn't cut in on the German's earnings in Europe.

• • •

THE SLIM chance Galento has of winning the title on Wednesday night is concealed in his left hook. That is his Sunday punch, and he will strive to plant it on Louis' chin.

In view of Galento's socking ability, I don't look to see Louis taking reckless chances in the first round. The champion will wish to test out Galento with straight left jabs and hooks rather than taking unnecessary risks by tossing right hand punches.

Louis naturally feels that the longer the bout goes the more difficult it will be for Galento. The latter is in as good condition as a boxer can get into with a month of training, but in that short time it was impossible for Tony to overcome his years of easy living.

Louis gets great power behind his left jab, while he can knock out an opponent with his left hook. When Joe gets the opposition into trouble he opens up with both dukes and goes to town. The right hand punch usually finishes the show.

Within a year, Louis has knocked out Max Schmeling, John Henry Lewis and Bob Roper in a round each.

I don't give Louis and credit for his victories over Lewis and Roper. Lewis is blind in his left eye, while Roper is an old man as fighters go.

Schmeling was a dangerous opponent, but he was beaten by the [illegible] by the [illegible].

• • •

[illegible] is [illegible] and is fit [illegible] Galento [illegible] champion. [illegible] has [illegible] a [illegible] life. He has tried to [illegible] the boxing game and [illegible] has succeeded in [illegible].

Louis is smart enough to know that anybody who can punch as well as Galento must not be underrated. As a result, the champion has trained as carefully as he did for Schmeling and Braddock. He will be at his best when he enters the ring on Wednesday night.

Outside of the ring, Louis is a dead pan, lackadaisical type, but once the gong sounds for a ring battle he is an alert, deadly fighter with dynamite in each hand.

It is my opinion that the bout will last two or three rounds, with Louis winning by a knockout.

There isn't anybody in sight who can knock Louis from his [illegible] throne.

Cronin Promotes Dickman, Osty As Hose Depart

By JOE CASHMAN

Where rain washed Boston out of Sunday baseball, schedules rob it of Monday baseball.

A strange arrangement in big league bookings finds the Red Sox opening a three-game series in Washington today, while the Bees are headed back from St. Louis for a two-day stay with the Dodgers at the Hive, starting tomorrow.

Thursday will see the Hose returning for two-day engagements with the Athletics and Yanks and the Swarm departing again for visits to New York and Philadelphia.

Join the majors and get frequent glimpses of the world.

SHUFFLES STAFF

As showers were preventing the Red Sox-White Sox Sunday twinbill, thus forcing the natives to be satisfied with a 4-6 record in the second stand against the West—their poorest showing in two years — Manager Joe Cronin revealed that he was promoting two of his erstwhile relief pitchers to the rank of starters.

"Until further notice," chirped Boss Joe, "Freddie Ostermueller and Emerson Dickman will pitch in turn along with Mose Grove, Elden Auker, Jack Wilson and and Woody Rich, when the latter returns to action.

"Neither 'Osty' nor 'Dick' had much early in the season, but of late they've shown more than anybody else, with the exceptions of Grove and Auker, and I must give them a chance to prove their standout again."

Ostermueller and Dickman now replace Galehouse and Bagby, neither of whom has come close to living up to pre-season expectations.

Galehouse, who rarely started games as an Indian, has muffed every opportunity given him here to escape bull pen assignments. On the other hand, he's turned in a few sparkling performances as a relief artist.

Bagby has been a bitter disappointment both as a starter and finisher, after starring in both roles as a freshman last year.

BAGBY PUZZLED

He never showed less than he did when the White Sox shelled him from the peak with a seven-run bombardment in the second inning of last Saturday's game.

Nobody is more puzzled than Bagby himself over his failure to come closer to approaching his yearling form.

Cronin's guess is that "Junior" is paying the penalty for lack of a better-than-average curve.

"Jim," opines the pilot, "got by last year on his fast ball because he was new to the hitters. He's now a cousin to these same hitters because they've learned he relies chiefly on his 'hard one.'

"He's steadily improving his curve, but it still isn't quite good enough. And, until it is, his future starts will be infrequent. But I'm not worrying about him. He'll master that 'hook' and be a worth as starters."

The Sox lost considerable money, but fortunately lost no ground in the race as a result of the Sunday postponement.

The Yanks broke even, to remain 13 games in the lead, and the third-place Indians split, to stay two games back of the home boys.

Joe Cronin may still be keeping an eye on those Yanks, but Jimmy Dykes, whose White Sox are very much in the struggle for second place, frankly admits that he's lost all interest in the doings of the champs.

"It's only a question of how large a margin the Yanks will pile up in breezing to their fourth straight pennant," commented 'Jeems' before pulling out for Chicago.

"There isn't a club in the league outside the Yanks today that is better than mediocre. The Red Sox alone would be if they had the pitching. They haven't got it. So the Yanks are a cinch."

BEES FIND PUNCH ON ROAD

BRADFORD, Pa., June 26—Boston's Bees were here today to play an exhibition game with their farm team in the Pony League. The Bees were full of pep as a result of their twin win over the Cards yesterday.

They feel that they are just arriving at the peak for the first time since Tony Cuccinello was injured.

Bill Posedel's hurling and the bats of Max West, Eddie Miller and Johnny Cooney gave the Stengelmen the two victories.

SHUT OUT CARDS

Posedel had the honor of being the second pitcher of the season to shut-out the Cardinals. The only other pitcher to hold the Red Birds scoreless was Bob Klinger of the Pirates. West, Miller and Cooney were the batting stars in the initial contest, while Majeski's single drove across the first Boston run in the nightcap and West's ninth home run of the season accounted for the other marker for the visitors.

The first game was a parade of pitchers as the Cardinals used five and the Bees three. Bill McGee, Paul Dean, Clyde Shoun, Morton Cooper and Tom Sunkel worked for the Cardinals in that order.

Dick Errickson opened on the hill for the Bees and John Lanning and Fred Frankhouse followed him to the firing line. McGee was charged with the defeat and Lanning received credit for the victory.

DODGERS NEXT

Curt Davis pitched the first eight innings of the second game and permitted all of the Bees' runs and hits, as Bob Bowman hurled the ninth and set the Bees down in order.

Two were out in the initial inning of the second game when singles by Hassett, West and Majeski produced the first Boston run. West added the other in the sixth with his ninth home run of the season.

The Dodgers will come to the Hive for a two-game series after which the Stengelmen tour the Eastern cities.

Young Collins to Go With A's

PHILADELPHIA, June 26 (AP)—Eddie Collins, Jr., son of the master second baseman of his day, will be a member of the Philadelphia Athletics—where his father rose to stardom—unless there is a hitch in present plans.

"Don't be surprised if he joins our team," said Connie Mack today. "I haven't signed him yet, but I think he will be here July 4 when his dad's team plays the A's."

"Will he play against the Red Sox?" Connie was asked.

"He probably would appear in the batting order."

Young Collins was captain of the Yale team this year and was outstanding as an outfielder among college players.

Baseball---The Fans' Game:

STEALING SIGNS THRILLING TO FANS

By MICKEY COCHRANE

Get that big inning. The big inning is the thing!

There's been a deal of comment about the two great Yankee teams, the '27 versus the '38 edition, and all conclusions arrive at the answer that the greater of these was the greatest baseball team ever put together.

I played on a pretty fair country ball club which might not have to hide its face in shame if compared with either of the great Yankee teams.

That team, the 1929 Philadelphia Athletics, was the greatest baseball team with which I ever played, and if it wasn't the greatest in history it wasn't far behind. It had pitching and hitting!

Controversies to the contrary, there is one point on which all experts are agreed, and that is that both Yankee teams and that great combination of A's played for that Big Inning!

GREATEST OF RALLIES

Those A's mowed 'em down. It was that team which exploded the most spectacular rally in baseball history, an inning that will be talked about for many years to come.

Howard Ehmke had sneaked over that victory in the opener of the '29 World Series, and Grove had made it two up on the Cubs, and then Guy Bush turned us back in the third game.

The fourth game found us miserably behind, 8-0, and Charley Root pitching shutout ball. In six innings we'd touched him for exactly two hits.

Simmons greeted Root in the seventh with a home run. Foxx singled, Bing Miller threw up the hit-and-run sign and singled, and men were on first and third. Jimmie Dykes singled, a run scored, Miller went to third, and Joey Boley got a one-baser. Three runs were in, and men were still on first and third.

A pinch hitter popped out, but the old hit-and-run came out again, and Max Bishop singled, and the panic was really on. We were now in the ball game, only four runs behind, with men on first and third still.

FOXX GETS 2D HIT

Then came the break. Hack Wilson lost a fly in the sun, and two runs scored, the hitter, George Haas, going to second. I drew a walk. Simmons, up for the second time, drove a base hit to center, scoring Haas, and Foxx drove me in with the tying run on his second base hit of the inning.

Pat Malone, then pitching, hit Miller with a pitched ball, filling the bases, and Dykes rammed a double down the left field foul line scoring two runs; and there the score stood, 10-8, until the end of the game.

It was the big inning to end all big innings!

The hit-and-run weapon played a very important role in that rally, as it does in all big innings.

The hit-and-run combination that is good will hold up a team which lacks sluggers, it will manufacture runs where there were none before, and very often it will break up a really finely pitched ball game.

With men on base, the side in the field is always on the watch for the hit-and-run sign.

For that reason, a good spy, a fellow with experience in baseball espionage to pick off signs, is a valuable person in the field or on the bench. It takes a very fast double-play combination to stop a good hit-and-run combination. So if you know that the heat is on, you can get ready for it.

Signals, signs of all sorts, have their place in baseball offense. Watching for signs is not a practice that is confined to the combatants.

There is no reason why a fan can't steal signs and enhance his enjoyment of the game of baseball. It's great fun and gives you a thrill when you actually know what is coming.

That hit-and-run sign, incidentally, is almost a sure-fire means of pulling a player out of position.

If a hitter can't pull a ball, there is no tonic equal to making a hit-and-run hitter of him. Marvin Owen, with the champion Tiger teams of my day, was just such a hitter. Owen for the life of him couldn't pull a ball to left field.

BIG IMPROVEMENT

After he mastered the hit-and-run, down in seventh place in the batting order he'd knock in one hundred runs, and put nearly as many in scoring position.

The strength of the hit-and-run is being able to conceal the fact that you are going to put it on. Again it was Cobb who could befuddle the opposition with his sign and deliver the hit.

Cobb almost always used the odd rub system. He'd rub himself a dozen times after stepping into the box, and it was up to the base runner to keep track of whether it was an odd or even number of times.

Every time it was odd the hit-and-run was on, and then he'd touch himself again and it would be off. He would believe somebody had swiped the sign. Then, when the opposition would think they had him doped out correctly, he'd flash the sign again, blast away at a pitch and expect the runner to be off with it.

Tomorrow in the Boston Evening American Mickey tells you how to "read" signs, a fascinating pastime, and outlines the drag bunt, the bunt and run, and other bits of big league play.

Mickey's Story Thus Far

It's a hard grind from boyhood through college athletics, minor leagues and into the majors, but Mickey Cochrane is fashioned of sound stuff, and he makes the climb.

He details highlights with the Athletics and reveals many inside angles of major league baseball.

Batting is described, with many sidelights about the game's stars. Now go on with the story:

Grand Circuit Racers Battle

TOLEDO, O., June 26 (AP)—The Grand Circuit, big wheel of the harness racing sport, starts rolling tonight on its 1939 season at Fort Miami Park track, with nearly 400 horses, valued at $500,000, ready to compete for $21,000 in purses.

Heading the roster of valuable horseflesh stabled at Fort Miami was Greyhound, the seven-year-old trotting "Grey Ghost."

Swifty SAYS:
Well . . . they finally beat great Rural Rube. That's all right with me but there's Hollr-a-poppin in Wonderland. Red Carroll is plenty peeved. He put the Rube in the sprint event Saturday only under protest. Now he demands another chance, so they're going to give him another crack at the Futurity on Wednesday and again on Friday in the 5-16th with Young Senator, his only victor this year.

CRUSADER CARESS AT TAUNTON

By THE RABBIT

TAUNTON, June 26—Seven of the 10 races carded for tonight at the Taunton dog track are over the five-sixteenths of a mile route.

For my safest wagering hazard on the program I am taking Crusader Caress to win the fifth race.

FIRST RACE—FUTURITY
(First Half Daily Double)

BALCOE—CHAS. YONKER—IDA DOWN

5	Balcoe	3-1	63	Tom Baird
7	Chas. Yonkey	4-1	61	M. C. Sparks
3	Ida Down	4-1	48	F. L. Brunts
6	Jimmy Stafford	6-1	64½	L. M. K'p'rick
4	Miss Ruth E	8-1	59	M. J. Gavan
1	V. J.	10-1	63	Ben Neal, Jr.
8	Red Lida	10-1	50	Fani Boone
2	Bright Ballad	12-1	62	Tom Cook

BALCOE drops down a trifle and loses the right one here with CHAS. YONKER dangerous IDA DOWN, making its first start, could upset.

SECOND RACE—FUTURITY
(Second Half Daily Double)

RIO GRAND—QUIZ—DON LASH

5	Rio Grand	3-1	68	Jess Williams
4	Quiz	4-1	66	C. A. Rhodes
3	Don Lash	4-1	64	Oscar Dahlberg
6	Ben's Ann	6-1	50	M. J. Gavan
1	Swing It	8-1	61	Hubert Bryant
7	Idol Andrew	10-1	63	Ernest Rhine
8	My Home Boy	10-1	65	Tom Baird
2	Liquid Fire	12-1	56	Cedar Pt. Ken'l

RIO GRAND'S last would warrant the better it is due tonight. QUIZ should be able to do the forcing with DON LASH a serious threat.

THIRD RACE—5-16 MILE
YOUNG MABEL—CRAIG'S GIRL—KNEADER

6	Young Mabel	3-1	55	Fred Palermo
8	Craig's Pal	4-1	65	M. T. Dubiel
2	Kneadey	4-1	56	M. J. Gavan
4	Troy Actor	6-1	63½	Fred Street
5	Black Liquid	8-1	47½	Ernest Rhine
1	War Danger	10-1	65	Otto Wohlant
3	Clean Caress	10-1	58	C. A. Rhodes
7	Daffy Roll	12-1	62½	F. B. Smith

YOUNG MABEL has a fine win race to its credit and back here figures stoutly again. CRAIG'S PAL could take it all with Kneader always a money possibility.

FOURTH RACE—FUTURITY
GLAMOROUS GIRL—GOODIE GOODIE BOY—CLOUDED AUZZIE

6	Glamorous Girl	3-1	58	Ari Wilson
5	Goodie Goodie Boy	4-1	56	J. L. Ayotte
1	Clouded Auzzie	4-1	51	Jack Adams
8	Hy-Tone	6-1	55	Ev't'l Harmon
2	Bruiser	6-1	65	Cedar Pt. Ken'l
4	Gilt'ring Band	10-1	69	Fred Palermo
3	Gold Flash	10-1	65	Otto Wohlant
7	Liquid Red	12-1	57	Cedar Pt. Ken'l

GLAMOROUS GIRL rates the call here with GOODIE GOODIE BOY which has been running in rare form, the chief threat. CLOUDED AUZZIE might upset.

FIFTH RACE—5-16 MILE
BEAVERSTEIN—PEERLESS CAREER—CRUSADER CARESS

6	Beaverstein	3-1	59	G. B. Stutz
7	Peerless Career	4-1	67	Pat Conway
1	Crusader Caress	4-1	65	C. A. Rhodes
3	Lucky Tom	6-1	64	G. H. Rogers
5	Court Scene	8-1	60½	Cavan
2	Gratitude	10-1	69	M. C. Sparks
8	Mister Andrew	10-1	64	Cedar Pt. Ken'l
4	Black Cash	12-1	57	Ted Lippold

After a couple of shots in slightly better company BEAVERSTEIN drops back and should win with Pat Conway's PEERLESS CAREER the chief menace. CRUSADER CARESS might run well.

SIXTH RACE—FUTURITY
PLAYSIDE VIC—LITTLE MUTT—TRAFFIC GLEN

1	Playside Vic	3-1	61	L. M. K'pat'k
4	Little Mutt	4-1	64	Ev'l Harmon
5	Traffic Glen	4-1	54	Frank Lane
6	Lucky Sir	6-1	60	J. B. Hatzo
7	First Officer	8-1	61	Ernest Rhine
2	Big Vinegar	10-1	66	John Highhouse
8	Sm'thing Port's	10-1	63	K. Stephenson
3	Tipover	12-1	60	Cedar Pt. Ken'l

PLAYSIDE VIC ran a fine win race recently and figures to repeat here with LITTLE MUTT in closest attendance. TRAFFIC GLEN might take it all.

SEVENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
CLASSY TRAFFIC—TOMMY TUCKER—ALMO DARLING

6	Classy Traffic	3-1	54	F. L. Brunts
5	Tommy Tucker	4-1	64	G. H. Rogers
2	Almo Darling	4-1	55	M. J. Gavan
3	Black Moon	6-1	64½	G. Lippold, Jr.
1	Cance	8-1	63	K. Stephenson
4	Lou Ann	10-1	54	Fred Palermo
7	So Lucky	10-1	56	Ben Neal, Jr.
8	Doering	12-1	67	W. Lee Bryant

CLASSY TRAFFIC should score here though TOMMY TUCKER, which ran a bangup second to Mary Collins the other night, will be close. ALMO DARLING can win it all.

EIGHTH RACE—5-16 MILE
MIRACULOUS—MIDNIGHT LILY—HABERDASHER

6	Miraculous	3-1	54	M. C. Sparks
1	Midnight Lily	4-1	52	Ted Lippold
4	Haberdasher	4-1	67	Oscar Dahlberg
2	Sweet and L'ky	6-1	55	Otto Wohlant
5	Buddyco	8-1	61	C. A. Rhodes
3	Truly	10-1	61	Seekonk Ken'l
7	Robert Ripley	10-1	68½	W. Lee Bryant
8	Fawn Fox	12-1	56	Fred Street

The top one here has the class and needs only to break to win. MIDNIGHT LILY on the improve. May be better than rated. HABERDASHER always has a chance.

NINTH RACE—5-16 MILE
MARY COLLINS—PERNA—GOLD MINE

4	Mary Collins	3-1	51	J. B. Hatzo
3	Perna	4-1	58½	W. Lee Bryant
5	Gold Mine	4-1	68	G. H. Rogers
8	Jerry Hicks	6-1	63	John Highhouse
1	Hurry Bo	8-1	59	Fred Street
1	Local Court	10-1	68	F. B. Stutz
2	Lilac	10-1	50	Ev'y'l Harmon
3	Miss Bailey	12-1	59	O. and B. Ken'l

MARY COLLINS has won two races since the opening and though stepping up class take it all here. PERNA won its last and rates close up with GOLD MINE in the money if it breaks.

TENTH RACE—5-16 MILE
INSTALLMENT—GILBY'S GIN—MEDULLA

1	Installment	3-1	71	Seekonk Ken'l
4	Gilby's Gin	4-1	64	Jack Adams
8	Medulla	4-1	59	K. Stephenson
7	Mister E. S. T.	6-1	66	Cedar Pt. Ken'l
6	Tragedy	8-1	49	Fred Palmero
5	Kansas Outlet	10-1	55	J. B. Hatzo
2	Lucky's Lucky	10-1	62	Paul Boone

The top one here comes from a smart kennel and has worked well enough to be favored here. GILBY'S GIN is always dangerous and MEDULLA wins from time to time.

Bees Learn To Smile Again | Ogg Predicts Low Open Scores

By BILL GRIMES

After taking both ends of their double header with the Cardinals, the Bees are in the happiest frame of mind they've enjoyed since Tony Cuccinello was forced out of the lineup.

Max West

Max West connected with two circuit drives yesterday and it looks as though Casey Stengel had the right dope on the young but giant-size Californian . . . Bill Posedel gave a most remarkable exhibition of hurling when he fanned Ducky Medwick and Enos Slaughter, with two Cards on, in the ninth inning of the second game . . . A poor pitch to either Medwick or Slaughter would have cost Sailor Bill the decision, for Spartsmans Park is a band box.

Joe Wood may pitch nine innings for the Old Timers next month but Clyde Engle will not be in the lineup . . . "Hack" has undergone four major operations and isn't playing any baseball . . . Tom Dunn, the American Association umpire, will start pinch hitting for the veteran Bill Klem, who is recuperating from an operation in St. Louis, tomorrow when the Bees and Dodgers clash at National League Field . . . Ralph McLeod has been returned to the Hartford club by Toronto.

Ted Bishop, of Woodland, the defending champion, and the six former Marshfield Trophy winners, Bill Blaney, Brae Burn, Freddie Wright, Trapelo, Morris Meeker, Bellevue, Milan Heath, Brae Burn and Ken Corcoran, Oyster Harbors, will all play in the annual three day Marshfield Country Club open, which starts on Friday . . . Ralph Guldahl, the ex-U. S. open champion, holds the course record at Marshfield, a 68, one stroke lower than Wilfred Crossley's mark . . . Eddie Skinner, who is a protege of Bob Kennedy's from the Belmont Country Club, is in the shop at Marshfield . . . He was at Bald Peak last year.

Willie Ogg predicts that the scoring will be lower at Worcester during the state open today and tomorrow than it was when Willie MacFarlane and Bobby Jones tied for the U. S. open title in 1925 . . . However, Worcester will play longer today and tomorrow than it did 14 years ago, for the National open was played during a terrible heat wave and the course was burnt to a crisp . . . Although there isn't as much of it, the rough is still very tough at Worcester.

You learn something every day . . . Or do you? . . . Duffy Lewis' nephew made a hole in one at Minute Man last week . . . Never knew that the dandy "see" of the Bees had a nephew at least in this section of the country . . . Has he? . . . George Dawson, who was responsible for Red Grange going to Illinois, beat one of his former caddies for the state championship of Illinois . . . Woody Rich and Bobby Doerr didn't make the trip to Washington with the Red Sox.

The first fairway at the Worcester Country Club doesn't look natural without the big tree, which was uprooted by the hurricane last September . . . During the U. S. Open in '25 at Worcester, Francis Ouimet played one of his greatest shots over that tree.

FAMOUS COMPOSER CONSULTS FAMOUS HAIR SPECIALIST

ZIGGY ELMAN, composer of "And The Angels Sing," and feature trumpeter with BENNY GOODMAN'S BAND, consults and takes treatment from JOHN E. WARNER, New England's leading hair and scalp specialist. Mr. Elman knows that a good head of hair is essential to his appearance. Statistics show that at least 85% of all premature baldness is due to neglect and local scalp conditions which can be corrected if caught in time. Thousands of men have saved and improved their hair through John E. Warner's treatments but no case is accepted for treatment unless beneficial results are certain. If you are interested in saving and improving your hair, consult John E. Warner. There is no charge or obligation for a private consultation at his offices, Suites 710-15, 515 Washington Street, near the corner of West Street. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Saturdays to 6 P. M.
